Dianne Young

Dianne Young is a woman who believes business and philanthropy are inseparable. While serving as Director of Community Relations for TELUS, Dianne established the TELUS Bright Futures Foundation, and developed the first corporate volunteer program in Canada. Later, as President and CEO of the Stollery Children's Hospital Foundation, Dianne helped steward the Foundation through a successful $12 million capital campaign for a new Children's Hospital, and under her leadership, funds raised for the hospital grew from $900,000 to $12 million annually. Through her experience at the Stollery Children's Hospital Foundation, Dianne saw first hand that pediatric obesity was becoming a serious health issue. Taking action, Dianne opened the Young Chef's Academy in 2008, encouraging children to make better food choices. Since its opening, 4,000 children have experienced the Young Chefs Academy.
